

SANTA CRUZ SENTINEL

March 8, 2004

People in Business

BOGARD+KITCHELL, a strategic partnership based in Santa Cruz, has completed the Construction Management and Contract Administration for the Library and Technology Center at Monterey Peninsula Community College in Monterey.

The Library and Technology Center, a three-story, $21.5 million, 67,500-square-foot building, is a technology-intensive center for library resources, language skills development and instruction. With approximately 400 data connections, information resources are accessible to all students, faculty, staff and the community. The center is fully wired for distance learning and community meeting rooms and is a low energy consumption building utilizing passive solar and sustainable materials. The project architectural firm was Esherick, Homsey, Dodge & Davis of San Francisco.

Ranked among the 35 largest construction managers in the United States, Kitchell specializes in managing building programs for educational, municipal and justice facilities.

Bogard Construction Inc. was founded in Santa Cruz in 1947.